

DUBLIN TECH SUMMIT 2020 IS RESCHEDULING TO SEPTEMBER DUE TO CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19)

STATEMENT

Over the last three years, we have built Dublin Tech Summit (DTS) into one of the world's leading global tech conferences with over 10,000 global attendees. This year, we have once again worked with our international partners and leading global companies to deliver a world-class event which makes DTS one of Europe's most attended events.

In everything we do at DTS, we always put the safety of our patrons, partners and attendees first. It is for this reason that we, like many other international companies, have had to consider the safety of our global community in light of the ever-changing nature of the Coronavirus (COVID-19).

We are also cognisant of our responsibility to protect the safety of our community and prevent the further spread of this virus. Based on the information provided by leading health organisations and the outlook on COVID-19, we have made the decision to reschedule DTS from our planned April date.

In light of this, we are delighted to announce the rescheduled date of the 9th & 10th of September 2020.

To answer any questions members of our community may have, we have set up a dedicated FAQ on our website. There is also a dedicated email to deal with community queries which can be reached by emailing community@dublintechsummit.com.

In the meantime, we will continue to build another exceptional event for DTS this September. We look forward to announcing more world-class speakers in the coming months and delivering an unforgettable event for our 10,000 attendees and our global community.
